If Churches Too Comfy, Congregation May Sleep

CARLISLE, ENGLAND—The chancellor of the diocese of Carlisle says he is against proposals to disperse the immemorial gloom and dampness of English churches. He says it might encourage naps during sermons. A consistory court recently considered a proposal to install lights and a heating system in the church at Gilsland.

"If the heat in a church becomes excessive people might go to sleep during the sermon, or at least have an excuse for doing so," said Chancellor H. H. King. "Also, we don't want theatrical lighting in churches." The chancellor also disapproved installing electrical heating tubes under pews.

The whole project was tabled for reconsideration. Cumberland mists will continue to invade the Gilsland church on frosty Sunday mornings.

Use of Clay Tile

Clay tile, widely used today in bathrooms and kitchens, has long played an important architectural role in many parts of the world. About 3,000 years before the birth of Christ, it was employed to line chambers in one of the earliest of the Egyptian pyramids. In the Near East, tile decoration evolved into a great art, and many of the finest mosques were embellished with it. During the 16th century in Spain, tile was so widely used in homes that the expression "to have a house without tiles" became a figure of speech expressing poverty. In Holland, the Dutch first began extensive use of clay tile in the 17th century and have since employed it in homes not only for kitchens but also for dairies, cellars and even living rooms.

Professor Asserts Device Can Prevent Deadly Smog

CINCINNATI. — An Indiana University professor said that a simple electrical device could be used to avoid deadly smogs like that which killed 19 persons in Donora, Pa.

The professor, Dr. Frank T. Gucker, Jr., said the device, known as the Cotterell precipitator, filters factory fumes.

Gucker said the smog frequently found in industrial areas comes when water vapor condenses upon particles of dust and smoke in the air. These particles are known as aerosols.

"These aerosols may be removed rapidly and completely," he said, "by means of a high-voltage electric discharge, which charges the individual particles and draws them over to one of the electrodes where they are deposited."

Italian Midget Submarine Takes Unscheduled Dive

NAPLES, ITALY. — An experimental Italian midget submarine took an unscheduled dive—and it sank. No one was aboard.

The submarine is Pietro Vassena's C3, a cross between a watch pocket submarine and a diving bell. It is 25 feet long and 4½ feet wide, shaped like a barrel and equipped with pincers fore and aft to grapple for treasures on the floor of the sea. It carries two men.

The inventor, who tested it at Lake Como, said it could go 2,000 feet underwater and stay down 20 hours.

Vassena brought it here to dive in reported 2,700 foot depths between Naples and Capri.

While being towed it went under suddenly and sank in 330 feet of water within 40 seconds.

Dental Cavities Increase With Added Use of Sugar

High consumption of sugar by American children is the major cause of tooth decay which is now occuring six times more rapidly than the dental profession is able to provide corrective treatment, according to the Journal of the American Dental association.

In a symposium of 11 separate articles devoted to dental caries (decay), leading dental scientists advanced new evidence showing that carbohydrates, particularly sugars, are directly responsible for dental caries.

Principal hope for overcoming the loss of teeth resulting from man's excessive appetite for sugar, the scientists agreed, lies in greater use of fluorides which have resulted in a 40 to 50 per cent reduction in decay in children and the development of other therapeutic agents which will help counteract the harmful effects of sugar in the mouth.

Dr. Robert G. Kesel, of Chicago, head of the department of applied materia medica and therapeutics of the college of dentistry, University of Illinois, summarized evidence collected by more than 40 research workers in support of the theory that dental caries is initiated by acids resulting from the action of bacteria on refined carbohydrate foods in the mouth.

Dr. Kesel cited reports from Scandinavia, Italy, Japan and elsewhere which showed a decrease in caries activity in direct proportion to the extent of sugar restriction during World War II. He reported dental caries have increased since sugar has become more plentiful.

Schools Seen Facing Losses In Real Estate

NEW YORK.—Many colleges and universities are endangering their endowments by investing in real estate, industry and business ventures, in the opinion of a considerable number of responsible educators and financial authorities.

The trend toward the purchase of non-educational enterprises has increased tremendously in the last few years, a study conducted by The New York Times has shown. In some instances colleges have invested as much as one-third of their funds in businesses and other properties.

If a depression comes, or if business in general goes into a recession, these invested funds may be in jeopardy. It has been pointed out that in the late twenties colleges and universities invested heavily in mortgages, only to find that after the 1929 crash their holdings virtually disappeared.

Tax Authorities Concerned

That both the House Ways and Means Committee and the Bureau of Internal Revenue are concerned with the loss of Federal tax revenues resulting from this investment trend is increasingly apparent. A year ago the House committee held a series of hearings on revision of the Internal Revenue Code. Several of these hearings were devoted to the question of how to deal with colleges and universities that owned commercial concerns and paid no taxes on their income.

When he appeared before the committee, John Gerdes, former chairman of the New York University Alumni Fund, explained the position of his institution in acquiring businesses valued at close to $50,000,000, in this manner:

"New York University has always been handicapped by a lack of funds. Its endowment is very small compared to that of other institutions, and the percentage of its income received from endowments probably is one of the smallest in the country. We should like to supplement that income, and that was our purposes in acquiring these businesses.

Public Service

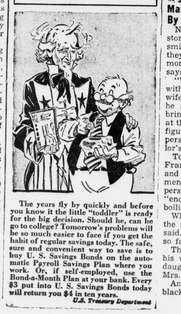
"Those of us who have engaged in these projects are doing it in a spirit of public service. We are giving our time and attention in the hope of developing a source of income for New York University which will enable it to continue and expand its public service in New York City."

One member of the committee observed, in noting that the university "saved" $1,500,000 in taxes that would have gone to the Federal Government if the businesses had remained in private hands; "The action taken is so extraordinary and so revolutionary in connection with these corporations that have been taken over that it occurs to me probably the whole system of tax exemption for educational and charitable organizations might seriously be threatened if this precedent is allowed to spread."

Champion Holstein Milker

Montana state college is the owner of a registered Holstein cow which has further added to her lifetime production record of more than 100,000 pounds of milk. Her name is Gladys Piebe Fobes (V. G.), and her production records are officially recorded by the Holstein-Friesian association of America. In seven yearly milking periods, "Gladys" has produced a total of 133,962 pounds of milk and 4,755 pounds of butterfat. Her highest single record was made at the age of seven years ten months when she produced 22,879 pounds of milk and 789 pounds of butterfat.

Uncle Sam Says



The years fly by quickly and before you know it the little "toddler" is ready for the big decision. Should he, can he go to college? Tomorrow's problems will be so much easier to face if you get the habit of regular savings today. The safe, sure and convenient way to save is to buy U. S. Savings Bonds on the automatic Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Or, if self-employed, use the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. Every $3 put into U. S. Savings Bonds today will return you $4 in ten years.

Chicago Found To Have More Taxicabs Per Capita

CHICAGO.—The nation's capital has more licensed taxicabs per citizen than any other city in the land, although New York has the greatest number of licensed cabs, according to the International City Managers Association.

The association, citing figures compiled by the American Taxicab Association, reported today that there were 8,024 cabs to serve the estimated 987,000 citizens of the District of Columbia, a ratio of one cab to every 109 Washington residents.

New Orleans was said to have the second highest ratio of cabs to citizens among thirty-nine of the larger United States cities, with one cab per 406 citizens, or 1,500 cabs for its 700,000 inhabitants. Boston was rated third, with 505 citizens per cab, and Louisville fourth, with a 531-to-1 ratio.

New York was fifth, having 11,814 licensed cabs, or one to every 658 of its estimated 7,783,000 population.

Greater Cleveland (Cuyahoga County) ranked last, with a ratio of 2,603 persons to one cab.

Male Shoppers Hated Best By Girl Clerks in Stores

NEW YORK. — The department store girls wear their prettiest smiles for the shopping man, but they don't want to take all his money, Mrs. Lorraine Frankland says.

"We try to sell him something within what we judge would be his wife's price limit," she explained. If he spends too much his wife will bring it back anyway and be mad at the store for selling it to him, she figures. Mrs. Frankland is the head personal shopper at Lord and Taylor's department store.

To figure that price list limit, Mrs. Frankland says she starts out low and works all the way up, making a mental note of the point he starts perspiring. Then she goes back and "encourages" him to buy below the boiling point.

What the girls really love about the men shoppers, Mrs. Frankland said, is they make up their minds so fast.

The average man, shopping for his wife and maybe his mother or daughter, spends about $50 all told, Mrs. Frankland said.

And not one in 500 of them buys black underwear, she said.

Scholar Who Dared Death Three Weeks Learns Old Secret

TEHERAN.—An American professor, who dared death every day for three weeks, said he had learned the secret of the inscriptions Persian King Darius had carved on Mount Bisitun 2,400 years ago.

Prof George Cameron of the University of Michigan and the American School of Oriental Research copied the rock carvings by means of a rubber compound. He did his work suspended 150 feet from a mountain ledge and 100 feet above the rocky ground just east of Kermanshah in western Iran. Sometimes his son, Thomas, 15, went up with him on the scaffold and helped.

"The story of Darius' life now appears with remarkable clarity," Mr. Cameron said. "I know now the secret of four huge columns of the inscriptions, which have not been read before because they were in an inaccessible spot. The full secret, however, is one that I shall not divulge until I have had further time for study."

The Bisitun inscriptions, in three languages, are ranked as the most famous antiquity of the kind in western Asia.

YOUR FRIENDLY DRUGGIST SAYS:
Partners in Health
Your doctor and we are partners in health. He examines you, determines what medicine you need to get on the road to health, and you bring that formula to us for filling. As a partner, we do our best to uphold the same standard of ethical performance and accurate prescription filling as your doctor.
